AG Bruning Announces Conviction of Jeffrey Glazebrook in Murder Case

Note: A sound bite on this topic will be available shortly at: www.ago.ne.gov

(Lincoln, Neb) Attorney General Jon Bruning today announced that Jeffrey Glazebrook, 49, was convicted of first-degree murder in Saunders County District Court.

In 1977, Glazebrook, who was 17-years-old at the time, attacked and sexually assaulted 97-year-old Sadie May McReynolds in her Ashland home. McReynolds later died at a Lincoln hospital. An autopsy determined that her death was a direct result of the sexual assault.

“Justice has been a long time coming for the victim and her family,” said Bruning. “Glazebrook committed this heinous act, and now he faces life in prison for his crime.”

Glazebrook’s sentencing will be October 26, 2009 at 1p.m. in Saunders County District Court. First-degree murder is a class I felony.

Assistant Attorney General Doug Warner and Saunders County Attorney Scott Tingelhoff handled the case.
